

an advanced approach linking East to West through science, field archaeology, interactive museum experiences

KICK-OFF MEETING

FEBRUARY 21ST, 2019

Conference Room, Faculty of Letters,
Okayama University

- Opening remarks - VP for Education ,
International Affairs:

- Promotion of the European programme - Gediminas Ramanauskas, Head of Science and Technology Section, Delegation of the European Union in Japan

-Greeting - Embassy of Italy (to be confirmed)

-Greeting – Embassy of Portugal (to be confirmed)

- Culture relationship between Italy and Japan
-prof. Paolo Calvetti, Italian Institute of Culture

- Marcello Baricco: BE-ARCHAEO at a glance

- Naoko Matsumoto:

Entry by reservation

Contact: naoko_m@cc.okayama-u.ac.jp

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under the Marie Skłodowska-Curie grant agreement No 823826

Center for Research on the Dynamics of Civilizations
Graduate School of Humanites and Social Science,
Okayama University

OKAYAMA
UNIVERSITY

KICK-OFF SYMPOSIUM

for the Center for Research on the Dynamics of Civilizations to go BEyond ARCHAEOlogy

FEBRUARY 21ST, 2019

Auditorium in the Graduate School of Natural Science and Technology, Building No.1
Okayama University

Opening remarks

Symposium Part I: BE-ARCHAEO: a 4 year European programme to go Beyond ARCHAEOlogy

Combining traditional Archeaology and Multidisciplinary Scientific approaches

Prof. Eliano Diana, University of Torino, Italy

Exploring the ancient Kibi and Izumo through interdisciplinary, international collaboration

Prof. Akira Seike, Okayama University

Symposium Part II: Scope of the Center for Research on the Dynamics of Civilization

Toward the construction of interdisciplinary research platform through digitalization of historical materials

Dr. Makoto Goto, National Museum of Japanese History

Human violence in the dynamics of civilizations: an interdisciplinary perspective

Dr. Hisashi Nakao, Anthropological Institute of Nanzan
University

Comments and Discussion

Public Symposium

Simultaneous translation available

